Such forward-looking statements include, without limitation, (i) estimates of future mineral production and sales; (ii) estimates of future costs applicable to sales, other expenses and taxes for specific operations, and on a consolidated basis; (iii) estimates of future capital expenditures, construction, production, or closure activities; and (iv) statements regarding potential cost savings, productivity, operating performance, cost structure and competitive position. Where the Company expresses or implies an expectation or belief as to future events or results, such expectation or belief is expressed in good faith and believed to have a reasonable basis. However, forward-looking statements are subject to risks, uncertainties and other factors, which could cause actual results to differ materially from future results expressed, projected or implied by such forward-looking statements. Such risks include, but are not limited to, gold and other metals price volatility, currency fluctuations, increased production costs and variances in ore grade or recovery rates from those assumed in mining plans, political and operational risks in the countries in which we operate, and governmental regulation and judicial outcomes. For a more detailed discussion of such risks and other factors, see the Company's 2007 Annual Report on Form 10-K, filed on February 21, 2008, with the Securities and Exchange Commission, as well as the Company's other SEC filings. The Company does not undertake any obligation to release publicly revisions to any "forward-looking statement," to reflect events or circumstances after the date of this news release, or to reflect the occurrence of unanticipated events, except as may be required under applicable securities laws.

Explanation of Non-GAAP Measures and Certain Metrics

This presentation contains certain non-GAAP financial measures, adjusted net income and operating margin per ounce. Non-GAAP measures should not be used in isolation or as an alternative to GAAP measures as reflected in the Company's consolidated financial statements. For further information concerning the use of adjusted net income by the Company and analysts, see the 2008 Earnings Release on Form 8-K furnished by the Company to the Securities and Exchange Commission on or about April 24, 2008, and the Company's other SEC reports. Operating margin per ounce, and operating margin with copper credits, are non-GAAP measures used by the Company as measures of consolidated financial performance at the operating level and may enable certain investors to evaluate Newmont's operations relative to other gold mining companies.

Footnotes

1. Gold operating margin defined as average realized price per ounce less costs applicable to sales per ounce, excluding amortization and accretion.

2. Operating margin with copper credits is a non-GAAP measure. Operating margin with copper credits is defined as gold sales revenues less costs applicable to sales – gold, less copper net sales revenue (copper sales revenue less costs applicable to sales – copper), divided by consolidated gold ounces sold.

3. Economic benefit based on expectations for reduced costs applicable to sales from self-generating power versus purchasing power and increased other income, net from sales of additional power generated beyond Newmont's consumption.
