

Corporate Governance Guidelines

Effective Date: September 13, 2022

1. Introduction

These Guidelines have been adopted by the Board of Directors (the “Board”) of BlackRock, Inc. (the “Company” or “BlackRock”) to provide a framework for the governance of BlackRock and to assist the Board in fulfilling its responsibilities.

2. Role and Responsibilities of the Board

The business and affairs of BlackRock are conducted by its employees, managers and officers. The members of the Board are elected by the Company’s shareholders and use their business judgment to direct, provide counsel and oversee the management of the Company in the interest of and for the benefit of the Company and its shareholders and other stakeholders.

The Board’s responsibilities, acting directly or through its committees, include, but are not limited to, the following:

Strategy and Performance Oversight. The Board engages in constructive dialogue with senior leaders of the Company on their near- and long-term business and financial strategies, and reviews and evaluates Company performance and management’s progress in delivering on BlackRock’s strategic framework for long-term shareholder value creation. Both the Board and the management of BlackRock recognize that creating long-term value for the Company’s shareholders requires the consideration of the concerns of other stakeholders and interested parties including clients, employees and the communities in which BlackRock operates.

Risk Oversight. The Board has ultimate responsibility for oversight of BlackRock’s risk management activities. The Board’s committees assist the Board in overseeing management’s risk assessment and risk management activities within the areas delegated to such committees.

Management Performance, Talent Development and Succession. The Board regularly evaluates the performance and approves the compensation for the Company’s Chief Executive Officer and other senior executives. In addition, the Board plans for the succession of the Chief Executive Officer and reviews the firm’s overall talent strategy, including talent development, diversity, equity and inclusion initiatives and succession planning for other senior executives.

3. Director Qualifications

The minimum qualifications for serving as a member of the Board of Directors (each member of the Board, a “Director”) of BlackRock are that a person demonstrate, by significant accomplishment in his or her field, an ability to make a meaningful contribution to the Board’s oversight of the business and affairs of BlackRock and that a person have an impeccable record and reputation for honest and ethical conduct in both his or her professional and personal activities.

The Board believes that diversity in thought, experience, backgrounds, skills and viewpoints contributes to and enhances the Board’s capabilities. In identifying and recommending nominees to the Board, the Nominating, Governance and Sustainability Committee will consider a number of factors, including a candidate's professional qualifications, perspective and demographic information, such as gender, race, nationality, ethnicity, sexual orientation and age.

The Board must be comprised of a majority of Directors who meet the criteria for independence required by the listing standards of the New York Stock Exchange (the "NYSE"). The Nominating, Governance and Sustainability Committee is responsible for reviewing with the Board, on an annual basis, the requisite skills and characteristics of new Board members as well as the composition of the Board as a whole.

Directors shall tender their resignation from the Board in the event of retirement or any significant change in their primary job responsibilities. Directors who are also employees of the Company shall similarly tender their resignation from the Board at the time they leave employment with the Company. The Board does not believe that a Director in these circumstances should necessarily leave the Board, but that the Director's continued service should be re-evaluated. Accordingly, the Nominating, Governance and Sustainability Committee shall review the Director's continuation on the Board in light of all the circumstances and recommend to the Board whether the Board should accept such proposed resignation or request that the Director continue to serve on the Board.

No person having attained the age of 75 years shall be appointed, re-appointed, or nominated for election or re-election as a Director to the Board. Upon the recommendation of the Nominating, Governance and Sustainability Committee, the Board may make exceptions to this policy as it deems appropriate.

The Nominating, Governance and Sustainability Committee and the Board consider each Director's length of tenure when considering Board composition and seek to maintain an overall balance of experience and continuity along with fresh perspectives. In addition, in considering director nominations for re-election to the Board each year, the Nominating, Governance and Sustainability Committee and the Board assess whether a Director can continue to dedicate the time and effort, and exhibit the independence of mind, required to meaningfully contribute to the independent oversight of the business and management of BlackRock. Annual re-nomination of Directors is not automatic and the Board's annual self-evaluation process contributes to the Nominating, Governance and Sustainability Committee's and the Board's consideration of Directors' continuing service.

Directors should advise BlackRock's Secretary in advance of accepting an invitation to serve on the board of directors or similar governing body of another public company. BlackRock's Secretary shall then advise the Chairman of the Board and the Chairman of the Nominating, Governance and Sustainability Committee regarding such invitation. The Nominating, Governance and Sustainability Committee shall consider the number of other public company boards on which a Director or prospective nominee serves in considering his or her availability to fulfill the responsibilities of a Director of BlackRock. It is expected that Directors who currently serve as a Named Executive Officer (as defined by the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission) of a publicly traded company not serve on the board of more than two publicly traded companies (including BlackRock), and that Directors who do not currently serve as a Named Executive Officer of a publicly traded company not serve on the boards of more than four publicly traded companies (including BlackRock), unless the Nominating, Governance and Sustainability Committee determines that, in either case, such service would not impair the ability of such director to effectively serve on BlackRock's Board. In determining whether service on boards that exceed the above limitations will impair a Director's ability to effectively serve on BlackRock's Board, the Nominating, Governance and Sustainability Committee will take into account any factors it deems relevant, including without limitation, whether the Director is currently employed on a full-time basis, is serving in a public company board leadership role or has any personal or professional affiliation with the public companies on which he or she serves on the board other than affiliation as a board member. Regardless of such other public company directorships, all Directors are expected to devote all such time as is necessary to fulfill the responsibilities of a Director of BlackRock.

4. Director Responsibilities

A Director is expected to spend the time and effort necessary to properly discharge such Director's responsibilities. Accordingly, a Director is expected to regularly attend meetings of the Board and committees on which such Director sits, and to review prior to meetings material distributed in advance for such meetings. A Director who is unable to attend a meeting (which it is understood will occur on occasion) is expected to notify BlackRock's Secretary, who will then notify the Chairman of the Board or the Chairman of the appropriate committee in advance of such meeting.

Information and data that are important to the Board's understanding of the business to be conducted at a Board meeting should, to the extent practicable, be distributed in writing to the Board before the meeting. Directors should review in advance any materials sent to them before the meeting. In the event of a pressing need for the Board to meet on short notice or if such materials would otherwise contain highly confidential or sensitive information, it is recognized that written materials may not be available in advance of the meeting.

The non-management Directors will meet in executive session at every regularly scheduled Board meeting. The Lead Independent Director presides at these meetings. If the group of non-management Directors includes any Directors who are not independent, at least once per year an executive session comprising only of independent Directors will be scheduled.

5. Board Leadership

The Board has selected the Chief Executive Officer ("CEO") to serve as Chairman of the Board. When the positions of Chief Executive Officer and Chairman are combined, or the Chairman is not an independent Director, the independent Directors shall appoint an independent Director to serve as Lead Independent Director and may alter such appointment at any time.

The Lead Independent Director shall have the authority and responsibilities described in the Lead Independent Director Guidelines and serve as the principal liaison between the independent Directors and the Chairman of the Board to optimize the effectiveness of the Board.

The independent Directors shall consider any and all factors they deem appropriate when selecting a Lead Independent Director, including a Director's understanding of the business and affairs of BlackRock, a Director's willingness and ability to devote a substantial amount of time to the position, a Director's experience serving on public company boards and/or in senior management roles and a Director's judgment and leadership skills.

6. Board Committees

The Board has the following standing committees: an Audit Committee, a Management Development and Compensation Committee (the "Compensation Committee"), a Nominating, Governance and Sustainability Committee, a Risk Committee and an Executive Committee. As required by applicable NYSE rules, all of the members of these committees, except for the members of the Risk Committee and Executive Committee, will be independent Directors, and each committee will have its own charter. To the extent required by applicable federal securities laws, tax laws, stock exchange listing requirements or other applicable laws or requirements, members of each of these committees shall satisfy necessary criteria to carry out the duties of each such committee. The committee charters will set forth the purposes, goals and responsibilities of the committees as well as qualifications for committee membership, procedures for committee member appointment and removal, committee structure and operations and committee reporting to the Board. The charters will also provide that each committee will annually evaluate its performance.

The Nominating, Governance and Sustainability Committee in consultation with the Chairman of the Board, will review and recommend committee assignments and committee chair positions to the Board on at least an annual basis. The Nominating, Governance and Sustainability Committee and the Board believe committee members should be rotated periodically based on committee needs and that consideration should be given to rotating a committee chair after approximately five to seven consecutive years of service as chair.

The Board may, from time to time, establish or maintain additional committees as necessary or appropriate.

7. Director Access to Officers, Employees and Independent Advisors

Directors have full and free access to officers and employees of BlackRock. Any meetings or contacts that a Director wishes to initiate may be arranged through BlackRock's CEO or BlackRock's Secretary or directly by the Director. The Directors will use their judgment to ensure that any such contact is not disruptive to the business operations of BlackRock.

The Board and each committee of the Board have the power to hire independent legal, financial or other advisors as they may deem necessary, without consulting or obtaining the approval of any officer of BlackRock in advance.

The Board and the CEO have incorporated into the Board's annual agenda a series of reports by senior officers of the Company, each of which address near- and long-term business strategies as well as other matters as appropriate. The Lead Independent Director and the Nominating, Governance, and Sustainability Committee review the scope of and topics for the Board's agenda with the CEO on a regular basis.

8. Director Compensation

A Director who is also an officer of BlackRock shall not receive additional compensation for service as a Director of BlackRock.

The form and amount of Director compensation will be determined by the Compensation Committee in accordance with the policies and principles set forth in its charter. The Compensation Committee will consider that Directors' independence may be jeopardized if Director compensation and perquisites exceed customary levels, if BlackRock makes substantial charitable contributions to organizations with which a Director is affiliated, or if BlackRock enters into consulting contracts with (or provides other indirect forms of compensation to) a Director or an organization with which the Director is affiliated.

9. Director Orientation and Continuing Education

All new Directors must participate in an orientation program, which should be conducted within three months of the date at which new Directors are elected. This orientation will include presentations by senior management to familiarize new Directors with BlackRock's strategic plans, its significant financial, accounting and risk management issues, its compliance programs, its conflict policies, code of ethics and other controls, its principal officers, and its internal and independent auditors. Directors are additionally encouraged to attend continuing educational programs offered by BlackRock or sponsored by universities, stock exchanges or other organizations related to discharging their duties as Board or Committee members. Upon approval, BlackRock will reimburse the reasonable costs and expenses associated with such programs.

10. CEO Evaluation and Management Succession

The Compensation Committee will conduct an annual review of BlackRock's CEO's performance, as set forth in its charter. The Board will review the Compensation Committee's report in order to ensure that the CEO is providing the best leadership for BlackRock in the long- and short-term. When it is appropriate or necessary, it is the Board's responsibility to remove the CEO and to select his or her successor.

The entire Board will work with the Nominating, Governance and Sustainability Committee to consider potential successors to the CEO in the event of an emergency or the retirement of the CEO. The CEO should at all times make available his or her recommendations and evaluations of potential successors, along with a review of any development plans recommended for such individuals.

11. Annual Performance Evaluation

The Board and each of its committees will conduct an annual self-evaluation to determine whether it and its committees are functioning effectively. The Nominating, Governance and Sustainability Committee will receive comments from all Directors and report annually to the Board with an assessment of the Board's performance and that of its leadership. The assessment will focus on the Board's contribution to BlackRock and specifically focus on identifying opportunities to improve Board and committee performance.
