Organic Sales Growth Trend & Discussion Points – Q3 FY25

Year-over-Year Organic % Change in Sales Per Day

F3Q25 Sales Growth Detail

- Down 3.1% YoY on an organic daily basis; down 2.4% on a 2-year stack basis and up 12.6% on a 3-year stack basis
- 2-year stack trend improved sequentially for the first time in over two years
- Average daily sales organic sequential increase of +2% in F3Q25 was ~200 bps below normal seasonal patterns
- Organic sales trends led by Service Center segment where average daily sales increased ~4% sequentially; segment 2-year stack of +1% vs. -1% last quarter
- 16 of top 30 industry verticals up YoY in F3Q25 compared to 11 during F2Q25 *
- YoY growth strongest across technology, food & beverage, pulp & paper, aggregates, and transportation
- Offset by declines primarily in machinery, utilities, metals, chemicals, and mining

 Based on largest 30 industry verticals for fiscal 2024*

Operating Within a More Muted End-Market Demand Environment Near-Term

Other Investor Discussion Points – Q3 FY25

Discussion Point	Update	Detail
Underlying Demand	• End-market demand remains mixed with customers measured with production and spending; SC segment sales trends improved as the quarter progressed; ES segment sales trends remain muted though order and backlog trends building positive momentum	• Organic daily sales down 3.1% YoY in F3Q25 but up over 2% sequentially; SC segment daily sales up 4% sequentially and slightly above normal seasonality; ES segment orders up 3% YoY and 8% sequentially led by stronger orders across automation, flow control, and the technology vertical
Tariffs & Pricing	• Suppliers announcing price increases in recent months tied to broader inflation/tariffs; evolving tariff backdrop creates NT demand uncertainty, but positioned well given technical industry position, MRO focus, U.S. customer base (88% of sales), minimal cross-border sourcing, and margin initiatives	• Price contributed ~100 bps in F3Q25; <2% of U.S. COGS sourced internationally; 70% of sales tied to technical MRO including repair/rebuild services; core customers include U.S. OEMs; reshoring a potential significant tailwind given U.S. manufacturing customer base & scaling automation portfolio
Hydradyne Acquisition	• Integration going well with strong collaboration and strategic positioning across operating teams; financial contribution expected to increase into F4Q25 and FY26 as initial synergies are achieved and demand strengthens across core and emerging fluid power markets	• Contributed nearly $59M in sales and nearly $6M in EBITDA during F3Q25 inclusive of initial integration actions; relatively neutral to EPS; MRO focus (55% of sales), repair & rebuild capabilities, and fluid conveyance solutions provide near-term resiliency and favorable growth potential into FY26
Near-term Outlook	• Greater macro uncertainty and an evolving tariff backdrop could drive a more measured pace to near-term customer capital spending and spring/summer production activity; incorporating into F4Q25 guidance but remain constructive on relative position near term and into FY26	• April organic daily sales estimated down ~3% YoY; F4Q25 guidance assumes organic daily sales down MSD to LSD YoY; potential support from easier comps, pent-up technical MRO spending, price contribution, ES segment backlog, acquisition synergies, margin initiatives, & balance sheet
Capital Deployment	• Cash generation potential and strong balance sheet supports ongoing growth initiatives and capital deployment opportunities; M&A pipeline remains active; ongoing scope for share buybacks in F4Q25 and FY26	• Record cash generation YTD sets path to over $400M of free cash in FY25, while net leverage at ~0.5x on a pro-forma basis; on pace to more than double capital deployment YoY in FY25 with over $440M deployed YTD including greater M&A, dividend growth, and share buybacks

Note: LSD – Low Single-Digits, MSD = Mid Single-Digits

- Excludes contribution from future M&A and/or share repurchases
- Potential support/upside from industry position, sales initiatives, active cost controls, gross margin initiatives, greater ES segment order conversion, Hydradyne synergies, and a sooner/greater rebound in broader end-market demand

Hydradyne Acquisition – Overview

Hydradyne

- Acquisition completed on December 31, 2024
- Premier provider of fluid power solutions focused on hydraulics, pneumatics, electromechanical, instrumentation, filtration, and fluid conveyance
- Product and service offering integral to powering and controlling critical stationary and mobile equipment in key industrial, commercial, and emerging industries
- Team of nearly 500 associates operating out of 33 locations across the Southeastern U.S.
- Strong technical market approach with over 30% of sales from solutions including repair services, system engineering & design, installation, fabrication, cylinder rebuilds, and hose assemblies
- Diverse customer base with sales balanced across MRO (~55%) and OEM (~45%) applications

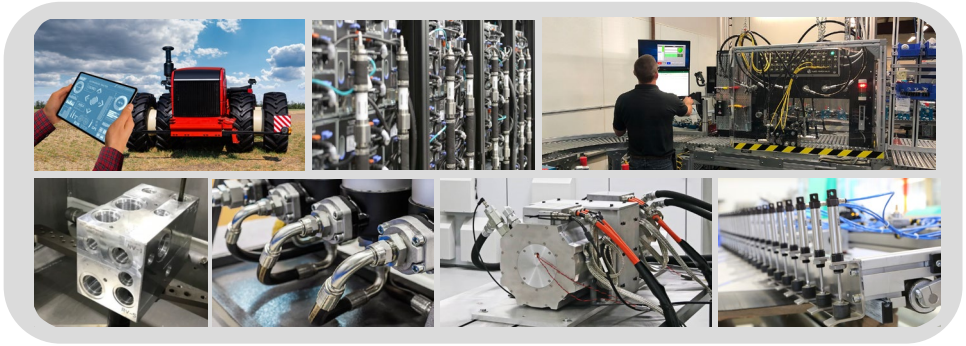

Recent Hydradyne Acquisition Provides Strong Growth & Operational Momentum Going Forward

Hydradyne Acquisition – Overview

Investment Rationale:

- Broadens #1 fluid power distribution position to serve secular growth tied to reshoring, equipment modernization, power management, connectivity, and electrification
- Extends fluid power geographic footprint and service/repair capabilities across the strategic Southeastern U.S. region
- Further expands more technical and higher-margin Engineered Solutions Segment, which is now approaching 40% of total Applied sales
- Attractive synergy potential via cross-selling, complementary solutions, harmonizing technical capabilities & systems, and operational efficiencies

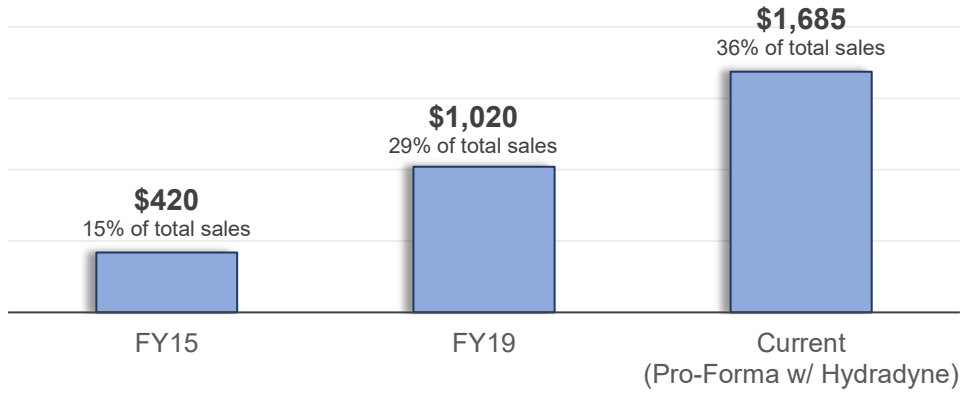

Financial Considerations:

- $276M purchase price ($272M enterprise value) funded with cash on hand; transaction multiple of 9.1x on forward 12-month projected EBITDA before synergies
- Net synergy targets would reduce transaction multiple by at least “1 to 2 turns”, and anticipated within the next 3 to 5 years
- Expected to generate approximately $260M in sales and $30M(1) in EBITDA, as well as be accretive to EPS by approximately $0.15 (1)(2), in the first full year of ownership
- Pro-forma net debt to EBITDA at 0.5x post the transaction, leaving ample capacity for additional M&A and other capital deployment opportunities

Engineered Solutions Segment Sales

($ in millions)

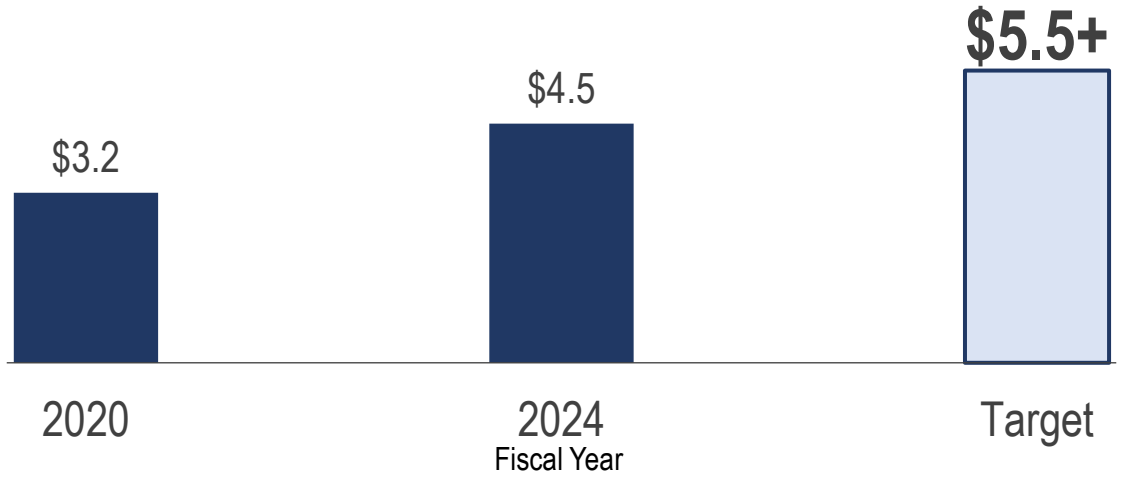

Notes: (1) Excludes transaction-related expenses and potential purchase accounting adjustments
(2) Net of projected acquisition intangible amortization expense of over $11M in the first year, and lower interest income on reduced cash balances after funding the deal
