16 Describe the calculation of the change in basis and the data that supports the calculation, such as the market values of securities and the valuation dates. The quarterly distribution of cash is characterized as a taxable dividend to the extent it comes out of the corporation's earnings and profits generated during the current year or accumulated from prior years. The part of the distribution that exceeds current and accumulated earnings and profits is treated as a non-taxable return of capital which reduces the shareholder's adjusted basis in the stock. If the distribution exceeds the stock basis, the excess is treated as capital gain.
