Triple Flag Publishes Inaugural Sustainability Report

Triple Flag Precious Metals Corp. (“Triple Flag”) (TSX:TFPM, TSX:TFPM.U) today announced the publication of its inaugural Sustainability Report, showcasing the company’s leading performance in environmental, social and governance (“ESG”) initiatives.

“We are proud to announce today the publication of our inaugural Sustainability Report, an important step in a journey that commenced in 2016 when I founded Triple Flag, and we will continually strive to learn and improve in this important aspect of our business. As a capital provider to the mining sector, we have a responsibility to all of our stakeholders to ensure that we are partnered with operators who share our deeply ingrained values of sustainability, belief in the importance of governance and desire to protect the environment, while prioritizing worker safety and the privilege to operate amongst host communities” commented Shaun Usmar, Founder and CEO.

“We believe that rigorous environmental, social and governance standards are the foundation to the long-term success of our partners’ mining operations and, by extension, our streams and royalties”, continued Usmar. “Our commitments are real and tangible, spanning investments in CO<sub>2</sub> reduction projects across the world, community initiatives, educational scholarships, and philanthropic endeavors closer to home. Through investment in accredited third-party offsets, our business has been carbon-neutral since inception, accounting not only for emissions from our corporate activities, but also attributable emissions from our investments into mining companies. Our management team and board are diverse and highly aligned to the interests of our shareholders, and with this orientation, we welcome any feedback and suggestions on how we can continue to evolve and be a force of good in the mining ecosystem.”
