INTRODUCTION

The Williams-Sonoma, Inc. Code of Business Conduct and Ethics (the “Code of Conduct”) is a statement of our Company’s standards of ethical business conduct based upon our commitment to adhere to our values – including our commitments to People First, our customers and our stockholders – and comply with the law. The responsibility to act ethically in all of our business practices and to comply with the local and national laws in each country where we do business is shared by all associates. We also all have a responsibility to voice any questions or concerns. Additionally, we expect our leaders to model this standard in their decision-making and provide ethical guidance to their teams. The Code of Conduct provides guidelines for proper behavior in the workplace and identifies whom you should contact if you have specific questions or concerns.

The Code of Conduct applies to all directors, officers and associates of WSI and its affiliates, and to any person performing work or providing services on WSI’s behalf, including temporary and seasonal associates. WSI is a global company and this is likewise a global Code of Conduct. We understand that local laws may be different and/or more expansive than the guidelines set forth in the Code of Conduct. We respect and are committed to complying with the local laws of all locations in which we do business. If compliance with this Code of Conduct should ever conflict with the law, you must comply with the law. In addition, nothing in this Code of Conduct is intended or should be construed to limit or impede rights protected by Section 7 of the National Labor Relations Act (NLRA).

Global associates should review the Appendix to this Code of Conduct for any country-specific guidelines or provisions that may apply. If you have questions about this Code of Conduct or applicable local laws, please contact your supervisor, your Human Resources representative or the Legal Department.

References in the Code of Conduct to we, us, our, Williams-Sonoma, WSI or the Company are generally intended to mean Williams-Sonoma, Inc. and all its affiliates, divisions, brands and subsidiaries, including its global subsidiaries, stores and offices. This Code of Conduct is effective as of December 10, 2020 and supersedes any previous version of the Code of Conduct issued or written by WSI prior to this date.

If you have any questions about the meaning of the Code of Conduct, or how it applies to you, please feel free to call the Legal Department at (415) 616-8388. Please read this Code of Conduct carefully and sign the Acknowledgement of Receipt and Compliance (Attachment B) OR complete the compliance course on WSI’s Learning Management System.

WILLIAMS-SONOMA, INC.’S COMMITMENT TO ETHICAL BUSINESS CONDUCT

Williams-Sonoma, Inc. is committed to maintaining the highest level of integrity and honesty throughout its business. For this reason, every associate has a responsibility to act with the highest ethical standards, to treat other associates, vendors, customers, stockholders, governments and the communities in which we do business with honesty, respect and civility, and to pursue business activities that will withstand ethical scrutiny, maintain and enhance our reputation, and not violate the law. In addition, each associate has a duty of loyalty to WSI. This means that each of us must carry out our responsibilities on the basis of the best interests of the Company, independent of our personal considerations or relationships. This Code of Conduct sets forth rules to enable associates to avoid any personal interests or activities that might create or appear to create a conflict with the duty of loyalty to WSI, or might otherwise reflect unfavorably on WSI's reputation or compliance with law.

This Code of Conduct also serves as an agreement between you and the Company. As you are aware, the business of the Company is highly competitive. Much of our success is the result of the creativity, innovation and hard work of our many associates. Because the Company's future and your own opportunities within the Company will be enhanced by the greatest protection of the Company's intellectual property rights, including trade secrets and other confidential or proprietary information, we ask you to enter into this agreement, in exchange for your employment, and the payment to you of salary, bonus, equity awards and other compensation.

EQUAL EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITIES

All associates and candidates for employment are provided equal employment opportunities. Individuals are recruited, hired, assigned, promoted, compensated and trained on the basis of their qualifications for the job, and without regard to race, color, religion, sex, gender, gender identity, gender expression, age, national origin, ancestry, military or veteran status, sexual orientation, mental or physical disability, genetic information, marital or familial status, or any other category protected by federal, state or local law that does not affect one's ability to perform the job.

Associates who feel they have been discriminated against in any way should immediately contact Human Resources or our hotline (1-800-620-8610) in accordance with the complaint procedure described below. Retaliatory action against any associate reporting discriminatory treatment or participating in an investigation is not tolerated.

Our Equal Employment Policy incorporates the Company's commitment to maintain an environment free of discrimination in accordance with state and federal laws.

NO DISCRIMINATION, HARASSMENT OR RETALIATION

It is the policy of Williams-Sonoma, Inc. to provide an environment free of discrimination, harassment, retaliation or undue imposition of any kind for associates, contractors, applicants, customers, vendors and all other third parties with whom the Company conducts business.

Discrimination or harassment on the basis of any characteristic protected by law is strictly prohibited. Harassment is any conduct that has the purpose or effect of creating an intimidating, hostile, or offensive work environment, of unreasonably interfering with an individual's work performance, or otherwise adversely affects an individual's employment opportunities. It includes, without limitation, verbal harassment (epithets, derogatory statements or slurs), physical harassment (assault or physical interference), and visual harassment (offensive or suggestive objects or posters, cartoons or drawings).

Specifically, sexual harassment refers to unwelcome sexual advances, requests for sexual activities and other verbal, visual or physical conduct of a sexual nature when:

- submission to such conduct is made, whether explicitly or implicitly, as a term or condition of an individual's employment;

- submission to or rejection of such conduct by an individual is used as a basis for employment decisions affecting an individual (such as promotions and benefits);
- such conduct has the purpose or effect of unreasonably interfering with an individual's work performance or creating an intimidating, hostile or offensive working environment.

Sexual harassment includes many forms of offensive behavior, including but not limited to:

- unwanted sexual advances;
- visual conduct, such as leering, making sexual gestures, or displaying sexually suggestive objects, pictures, cartoons or posters;
- verbal conduct, such as making or using derogatory comments, epithets, slurs or sexually explicit jokes about an associate's body or dress;
- verbal sexual advances or propositions;
- verbal abuse of a sexual nature, graphic verbal commentary regarding an individual's body, sexually degrading words used to describe an individual, or suggestive or obscene letters, notes or invitations;
- emailing or forwarding sexually explicit or suggestive jokes, pictures, messages or other materials; and
- physical conduct, such as touching, assault, or impeding or blocking movements.

Reporting Accounting and Securities Laws Concerns If your concerns relate to accounting, internal controls, auditing or securities laws matters, or if the General Counsel is implicated in any violation or suspected violation, you may also refer to the company's Policy for Reporting Accounting and Securities Laws Concerns adopted by the Audit Committee of the Board of Directors for additional reporting options and procedures. The Policy for Reporting Accounting and Securities Laws Concerns is included in this Code of Conduct as Attachment A and is also available on Homefront.

COMPLYING WITH LEGAL AND ETHICAL STANDARDS

WSI associates must comply with all laws and regulations, and all financial reporting requirements, applicable to WSI's business. We also must act consistently with our values and with the highest level of integrity and honesty in all our business dealings. If you have questions about this policy, please contact your supervisor, your Human Resources representative or the Legal Department.

Protecting Company Information and Assets Each of us has a responsibility to protect the Company's assets, including physical assets, financial assets, intellectual property and proprietary/confidential information, from theft, loss, damage or misuse. This includes, but is not limited to, compliance with the policies set forth in the Associate Handbook (or the local equivalent, such as "Company Regulations"), our Information Systems and Security Policy and our Record Retention Policy. Each of us also has the responsibility to protect WSI's reputation, one of our most important assets, by pursuing business activities that will withstand ethical scrutiny, maintain and enhance our reputation, and not violate the law.

In accordance with the WSI Insider Trading Policy, associates who have access to confidential information are prohibited from using or disclosing that information for purposes of trading WSI securities or for any other purpose other than the conduct of Company business. Using confidential information for personal financial benefit or to “tip” others is both unethical and illegal. Short sales (as described in the WSI Insider Trading Policy) and the purchase or sale of “put” or “call” options on WSI securities is also prohibited. You should also not engage in any speculative transactions in WSI securities that suggest you are trying to profit in short-term increases or decreases in WSI’s stock price, such as “day trading”. If you have any questions about trading in WSI securities, you should contact the General Counsel. Inquiries from investors or analysts should be directed to the head of Investor Relations or the Chief Financial Officer.

Complying with Laws You are responsible for complying with all laws, rules, regulations and regulatory orders that apply to our business, including insider trading laws. If you are located or engaging in business outside of the United States, you must comply with laws, rules, regulations and regulatory orders of the United States, in addition to the laws of other countries. If compliance with this Code of Conduct should ever conflict with the law, you must comply with the law.

WSI is committed to compliance with the applicable laws, rules and regulations of the Securities and Exchange Commission. Falsification of any financial report, or other record, including quality and safety data, hours of work reports, time keeping data or expense reports, will result in immediate disciplinary action up to and including termination. If you believe Company information has been falsified or misused, you should immediately report the issue in accordance with the WSI Policy for Reporting Accounting and Securities Laws Concerns (which is included in this Code of Conduct as Attachment A and available on Homefront).

Conducting Business Globally In addition to complying with the Code of Conduct, the Company has policies that require you to comply with specific laws and regulations concerning exports, economic sanctions, international boycotts, bribery, payments, gifts to and entertainment of foreign officials, and other aspects of global business operations. These laws include but are not limited to the U.S. Foreign Corrupt Practices Act, the Anti-Boycott Laws, the U.K. Bribery Act and the anti-bribery laws of any country where we are doing business. Please refer to the International Compliance Policy available on Homefront for additional information. All associates involved in the Company’s international business activities are required to familiarize themselves with, and comply with, all Company policies relating to our global business operations.

Dealing with Governments In addition to complying with laws that apply generally, and policies relating to our international business operations, you are also responsible for complying with special laws, rules and regulations that relate to government contacts and government personnel in the U.S. or any country where we are doing business. Any associate who deals with any governmental agency or personnel is responsible for familiarizing themselves with and complying with these special laws, rules and regulations.

Our Responsibilities to Our Customers We must treat our customers equally, with the highest level of respect, honesty and service. Our customers must feel secure relying on our Company and our products, and our marketing of those products. Therefore, our advertising must be truthful, and any specific claims we make about our products must be supported by objective evidence. Also, we may not unfairly disparage publicly any of the products, services or employees of our competitors. Any comparisons we make between our products and those of our competitors must be fair and accurate.

Our Responsibilities to Our Vendors Each of us must deal honestly, fairly, respectfully, openly and impartially with our vendors and potential vendors. Specifically, we must purchase goods and services based solely on the quality, performance, price and services offered, and consider a variety of vendors to ensure we select vendors based on a neutral competitive selection process. All terms with vendors should be set forth in a contract provided to Legal Department upon vendor set-up, and not in any “side” letter or agreement. Please refer to the New Vendor Selection and Set Up Policy available on Homefront for additional information.

Our Responsibilities to Each Other Our commitment to ethical business conduct starts with how we treat our fellow associates. We must treat each other with respect, honesty, and fairness. Those of us who supervise others should make sure our associates read and understand the Code of Conduct, and encourage them to raise questions or concerns and take prompt and effective action to ensure we comply with it.

Fair Dealing with Our Competitors It is our policy to lawfully compete in the marketplace. Our commitment to fairness includes respecting the rights of our competitors to compete lawfully in the marketplace and abiding by all applicable laws in the course of competing.

Most countries have well-developed bodies of law designed to encourage and protect free and fair competition. These laws are broad and far-reaching and regulate the Company’s relationships with its suppliers and customers. Competition laws generally address the following areas: pricing practices (including predatory pricing, price fixing and price discrimination), discounting, terms of sale, credit terms, promotional allowances, secret rebates, exclusive dealerships or distributorships, product bundling and restrictions on carrying competing products. Competition laws also govern, usually quite strictly, relationships between the Company and its competitors. Collusion among competitors is illegal, and the consequences of a violation are severe. You must not enter into an agreement or understanding, written or oral, express or implied, with any competitor concerning prices, discounts or other terms or conditions of sale; profits or profit margins; costs; allocation of product, customers, markets or territories; limitations on production or supply; boycotts of customers or suppliers; or bids or the intent to bid. You also must not discuss or exchange information on these subjects.

The Company is committed to obeying both the letter and spirit of these laws, which are often referred to as antitrust, consumer protection, competition or unfair competition laws. Although the spirit of these laws is straightforward, their application to particular situations can be quite complex. To ensure that the Company complies fully with these laws, you should promptly involve our Legal Department when questionable situations arise.

Other Company Policies Many legal and ethical requirements apply to all WSI associates. You are responsible for complying with all WSI policies. Some of these requirements are published on Homefront under “All Policies & Documents” (e.g., the WSI Insider Trading Policy and the Information Systems and Security Policy), and others are outlined in the WSI Associate Handbook (e.g., confidentiality obligations, Associate Discount Policy), which is also available on Homefront. However, these additional requirements do not in any way detract from the broader obligation to comply with all applicable laws and to always behave professionally and with integrity.

CONFLICTS OF INTEREST

All business decisions should be made solely because they are in the best interest of the Company, and not for personal benefit. In general, a conflict of interest exists when an associate has a relationship or engages in an activity that may impair or adversely affect the associate's judgment regarding the best interests of WSI, or when an associate benefits financially from the associate's employment with WSI beyond compensation and financial benefits paid or granted by WSI. Similarly, situations that appear to create a conflict of interest may also damage the Company's reputation and undermine morale. You should avoid any action that creates, or appears to create, a conflict of interest with the Company. As noted, nothing in this Code of Conduct is intended or should be construed to limit or impede rights protected by Section 7 of the National Labor Relations Act (NLRA).

CONFLICTS OF INTEREST SITUATIONS COMMONLY FACED BY ASSOCIATES

While it is impossible to anticipate and specify every situation which may give rise to a possible conflict of interest between an associate's personal interests and the best interests of WSI, this section illustrates the types of business relationships or activities with a particularly high potential for a conflict of interest. These relationships and activities should be avoided. If you have questions about whether a particular activity may be a conflict of interest, please contact your supervisor, your Human Resources representative or the Legal Department.

Ownership Interests Associates should not invest in any supplier, vendor or competitor of WSI, other than buying or selling nominal amounts of stock in those that are publicly traded companies.

Outside Employment or Business Activities Associates may not serve as an officer, director, partner, employee or consultant to, or otherwise work for or receive compensation for personal services from, any supplier, vendor or competitor of WSI or any business entity that does or seeks to do business with WSI.

Serving in such a capacity for a company that is not a supplier, vendor or competitor of WSI may be permitted, but such activities must be approved in advance by Human Resources and must not interfere with your duties to WSI. Service on the Board of Directors of any "for profit" company must be approved by an Executive Committee member, in consultation with the General Counsel.

Always remember that you may not use any Company resources (including time, equipment, facilities and fellow associates) to support any outside employment or business activities.

Gifts, Merchandise and Entertainment

No gift or entertainment should be accepted or given if it would obligate or influence, or appear to obligate or influence, the recipient to the giver or vice versa. Please inform the General Counsel in writing if anyone offers you or sends you a prohibited gift or if you have questions about this policy.

- Associates in the United States

- Gifts and Merchandise Accepting or offering merchandise, discounts on merchandise, samples for home use or gifts (other than gifts valued at less than US$150) from any existing or prospective supplier, vendor or competitor of WSI is prohibited. Even where gifts are permitted, the total gifts to or from an existing or prospective supplier, vendor or competitor should not exceed US$250 per year. Offering any items or discounts to any government employee or official or employees of any company wholly or partly owned by any government is prohibited. Samples must be sent to WSI offices and not to an associate's home. Associates may not purchase directly from WSI vendors for personal use except when utilizing the same channels as an ordinary consumer. Accepting or making gifts of cash or cash equivalents (including gift certificates or stock) is prohibited.
- Entertainment – Associates may accept business meals and entertainment, such as attending a local cultural or sporting event, which advance the Company's interests and are for the purpose of discussing business with a business associate. For any single event valued at US$250 or more, associates must obtain prior written approval from WSI's Chief Executive Officer or General Counsel. However, accepting tickets to an event if the business partner will not also be present is considered a gift, subject to the US$150 and US$250 limitations described above, rather than business entertainment. Business meals should be appropriate to the occasion. Accepting trips is prohibited without prior authorization of WSI's Chief Executive Officer or General Counsel. Associates must obtain prior written approval from the Legal Department before offering or providing business meals, entertainment, or travel to any government employee or official.

- Associates Outside of the United States

- Gifts, Merchandise and Entertainment –Accepting or offering any gift, including accepting or offering merchandise, discounts on merchandise, samples for home use or gifts, regardless of value or amount is prohibited for all associates outside of the United States. Similarly, associates outside of the United States are prohibited from accepting any business meal and/or entertainment, regardless of value or amount. Strictly limited exceptions to the prohibition against accepting gifts, business meals and/or entertainment may be granted by a director or above where acceptance is required for business courtesy and the value is less than US$100. All gifts and meals given and received should be recorded in the form of a Gift and Entertainment Log maintained in each office.

Business Transactions with WSI Associates should not participate, directly or indirectly, in any business agreement or transaction involving WSI, except when acting in an official capacity on behalf of WSI or when making purchases as a customer of the Company. Please contact WSI's General Counsel if you have questions about a particular activity or transaction.

Loans Associates may not borrow money from, loan money to, or guarantee a loan to any supplier, vendor or competitor of WSI.

Doing Business with Family Members or Friends Hiring or pressuring other associates to hire a family member or a personal friend, as an associate, independent contractor, supplier or vendor of WSI is prohibited. For purposes of this Code of Conduct, “family member” includes any immediate family member or person with whom you have a significant or live-in relationship. Prior to conducting any WSI business with any family member, you must obtain written approval from WSI’s Executive Vice President of Human Resources or General Counsel. You must always keep WSI’s best interests as top priority in your business activities as an associate.

Supervising Family Members Supervising (directly or in the line of control), reviewing, or asserting any influence on the job evaluation, pay or benefits of any family member is prohibited. Any exceptions must be in writing from WSI’s Executive Vice President of Human Resources or General Counsel.

Family Members at Competitors A conflict of interest could arise if an associate’s family member is employed by a significant competitor of WSI. If your family member is or becomes employed by a significant competitor of WSI, you must notify your supervisor, who must disclose the circumstances to their Human Resources representative. If such circumstances are deemed to have a direct and actual impact on your ability to perform your assigned responsibilities, such as by creating a conflict of interest, the Company may reassign you or take other steps, including termination of your employment, to eliminate the conflict. In addition, failure to disclose an actual conflict of interest presented by these circumstances to your supervisor or Human Resources representative may result in disciplinary action, up to and including termination of your employment.

Fraternization Associates must not allow romantic relationships or friendships with other associates to impair their job performance, adversely affect others or create an uncomfortable work environment for others. It is important that you use tact, good judgment and sensitivity in these situations, and specifically avoid favoritism, or the appearance of favoritism, open displays of affection and making business decisions based on emotions or friendships rather than the best interests of WSI. Supervisors are specifically required to disclose personal relationships with associates who report in to their organization to their Human Resources representative. If a personal relationship is established after employment, the Company may reassign one of the associates or take other steps, including termination of one or both of the associates to eliminate the conflict within the reporting relationship. As noted, nothing in this Code of Conduct is intended or should be construed to limit or impede rights protected by Section 7 of the National Labor Relations Act (NLRA).

CORPORATE OPPORTUNITIES

You may not directly or indirectly exploit for personal gain any business opportunities, including by conducting outside business activities, that you discover through the use of Company property or information or your position with the Company, unless you first disclose the opportunity fully to your supervisor, the General Counsel or the Executive Vice President of Human Resources, and the Company declines to pursue the opportunity. If necessary, WSI management will disclose the opportunity to the Board of Directors, and management or the Board of Directors will evaluate the opportunity. Once you have disclosed the opportunity, the Board of Directors or WSI management will follow up with you as appropriate.

DISCLOSURE OF CONFLICTS; REQUEST FOR EXCEPTIONS

Associates must immediately disclose to their supervisors, any relationship or activity that might create a conflict of interest. If you are unsure whether a particular situation creates a conflict of interest, take the time to discuss it with your supervisor.

Under certain circumstances, a particular relationship or activity might not contradict or compromise the best interests of WSI. However, associates may not themselves make such determinations. Requests for exceptions must be originated by the department Senior Vice President and forwarded to WSI's Executive Vice President of Human Resources or General Counsel for approval. As noted, nothing in this Code of Conduct is intended or should be construed to limit or impede rights protected by Section 7 of the National Labor Relations Act (NLRA).

WSI'S COMMITMENT TO SOCIAL AND ENVIRONMENTAL RESPONSIBILITY

WSI also believes that we have an obligation to protect our environment now and for future generations. In line with our values, we have defined our practices for product sourcing and selection of socially responsible vendors. Please refer to the policies available on Homefront with respect to ethical sourcing, supply chain practices and procurement.

PUBLIC COMMUNICATIONS AND FILINGS

The Company files reports and other documents with regulatory authorities, including the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission and the New York Stock Exchange. In addition, from time to time the Company makes other public communications, such as issuing press releases.

Depending on your position, you may be called upon to provide information to help assure that the Company's public reports and communications are complete, fair, accurate and understandable. You are expected to use all reasonable efforts to provide complete, accurate, objective, relevant, timely and understandable answers to inquiries related to the Company's public disclosures.

Individuals involved in the preparation of public reports and communications on behalf of the Company must use all reasonable efforts to comply with the Company's disclosure controls and procedures, and to keep current with all applicable reporting rules and regulations, such as those set forth by the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission and the New York Stock Exchange. These controls and procedures are designed to ensure full, fair, accurate, timely and understandable disclosure in the Company's public reports and communications.

If you believe that any disclosure is materially misleading or if you become aware of any material information that you believe should be disclosed to the public, it is your responsibility to bring this information to the attention of the Legal Department. If you believe that questionable accounting or auditing conduct or practices have occurred or are occurring, you should refer to the Company's Policy for Reporting Accounting and Securities Laws Concerns for reporting procedures (which is included in this Code of Conduct as Attachment A and available on Homefront).

COMMUNICATING INFORMATION ABOUT THE COMPANY

You may not communicate on behalf of the Company unless you are authorized to do so by the Company's official spokespeople described below. In addition, you may not communicate on behalf of the Company any information about the Company, our business, our competitors or our industry generally to third parties, such as research firms, unless you are authorized to do so by the Company's official spokespeople. The Company has established specific policies regarding who may communicate information on behalf of the Company to the public, the press, market professionals (such as securities analysts, institutional investors, investment advisors, brokers and dealers), security holders and research firms. Communication includes, but is not limited to, interviews with the press, speaking at conferences or seminars, writing articles or letters, participating in social media sites and chat rooms and blogging. Please also refer to our Social Media Guidelines available on Homefront.

The Company's Chief Executive Officer, Chief Financial Officer, public relations personnel and investor relations personnel are the Company's official spokespeople for communicating information on behalf of or about the Company.

Please refer all calls or other inquiries from the press, market professionals or security holders seeking statements on behalf of the Company to the head of Investor Relations or Chief Financial Officer, who will see that the inquiry is directed to the appropriate persons within the Company.

All other media or other calls seeking a comment on behalf of the Company should be forwarded without comment directly to the Corporate Public Relations Department. This will ensure that our contacts with the press are both factually accurate and consistent. Generally, the Public Relations department handles all requests from media outlets.

To the extent associates communicate with media/reporters in an unofficial capacity, the associate must not make any statement suggesting that the associate is speaking on behalf of the Company. The Company suggests this response: "I am not authorized to comment for Williams-Sonoma, Inc."

All communications made to public audiences on behalf of the Company, including formal communications and presentations made to investors, customers or the press, require prior approval of the Chief Executive Officer or Chief Financial Officer.

PROTECTING CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION

As associates of the Company, and for the benefit of ourselves as well as the Company, we each have a duty to safeguard our Company's trade secrets and Confidential Information and to refrain from any improper dealings with the confidential information of any other company, including our competitors. Except as required or permitted by applicable law, associates may not disclose Confidential Information either while an employee of WSI or at any time after employment ends, regardless of the reason why employment ends. "Confidential Information" includes, but is not limited to, all confidential, proprietary or trade secret information that is not generally known and that therefore has economic value to the Company. Examples of this information include all information, whether in written, oral, electronic, magnetic, photographic or any other form, that relate to: the Company's past, present and future businesses, products, product specifications, designs, drawings, concepts, samples, intellectual property, inventions, know-how, sources, costs, pricing, technologies, customers, vendors, other business relationships, business ideas and methods, distribution methods, inventories, manufacturing processes, computer programs and systems, employees, hiring practices, compensation, operations, marketing strategies and other technical, business and financial information. Examples of Confidential Information also include the identity, capabilities and capacity of vendors and of former vendors or others that were considered but rejected and any non-public, personal information about any associates, customers, contractors, vendors or other parties, including, but not limited to, social security, driver's license, credit or debit card number or payment card numbers. Nothing in this Code of Conduct is intended or should be construed as prohibiting an associate from disclosing his or her own compensation information to others.

Additionally, associates may not bring or use any other company's confidential information to WSI. All associates must acknowledge by signing this Code of Conduct that they have not brought any such confidential information from prior employers to WSI.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, the Defend Trade Secrets Act of 2016 (DTSA) provides that an individual shall not be held criminally or civilly liable under any federal or state trade secret law for the disclosure of a trade secret that is made (i) in confidence to a federal, state, or local government official, either directly or indirectly, or to an attorney; and (ii) solely for the purpose of reporting or investigating a suspected violation of law; or (iii) in a complaint or other document filed in a lawsuit or other proceeding, if such filing is made under seal. In addition, DTSA provides that an individual who files a lawsuit for retaliation by an employer for reporting a suspected violation of law may disclose the trade secret to the attorney of the individual and use the trade secret information in the court proceeding, if the individual (i) files any document containing the trade secret under seal; and (ii) does not disclose the trade secret, except pursuant to court order.

The Company’s financial information guides the decisions of the Company’s Board of Directors and management, and is relied upon by its shareholders and the financial markets. The Company is also committed to complying with securities laws and addressing any violations promptly. It is the Company’s policy to encourage associates, when they believe that questionable accounting or auditing practices or violations of securities laws have occurred or are occurring, to report those concerns, with the option to report on an anonymous basis. All reports will be taken seriously and will be promptly investigated. All information disclosed during the course of the investigation will remain confidential, except as necessary to conduct the investigation and take any remedial action, in accordance with applicable law.

The specific action taken in any particular case will depend on the nature and gravity of the circumstances reported, as well as the quality of the information provided.
