

2018 Conflict-Free Gold Report

Newmont Goldcorp Corporation

Nov 30, 2019

Newmont Goldcorp Corporation (“Newmont Goldcorp”) acknowledges that its license to operate means that it needs to demonstrate that gold has been extracted in a manner that does not cause, support or benefit unlawful armed conflict or contribute to serious human rights abuses or breaches of international humanitarian law. Newmont Goldcorp takes this responsibility seriously and has adopted the World Gold Council’s Conflict-Free Gold Standard (the Standard). This Conflict-Free Gold Report summarizes how Newmont Goldcorp conforms to the requirements of the Standard for the year ended 31 December 2018. The Executive Vice President and Chief Sustainability & External Affairs Officer is responsible for implementation, and reports to the Chief Executive Officer as well as the Safety and Sustainability Committee of the Board of Directors, who has ultimate responsibility for Newmont Goldcorp’s compliance.

Reporting boundary

The reporting boundary of this Conflict-Free Gold Report includes all mining and processing operations over which Newmont Goldcorp had 50% or more control in the calendar year ended 2018. This is consistent with the reporting boundaries that Newmont Goldcorp publicly discloses in its 2018 Beyond the Mine sustainability report. A link to the reporting boundaries, along with a comprehensive list of Newmont Goldcorp operations included in the reporting boundary is provided in Attachment A.

Former Goldcorp mining and processing operations will be included in the Newmont Goldcorp 2019 Conflict-Free Gold Report, to be published in 2020.

Standard’s requirements

The Standard is comprised of assessments Parts A–E:

- Part A – Conflict Assessment
- Part B – Company Assessment
- Part C – Commodity Assessment
- Part D – Externally Sourced Gold Assessment
- Part E – Management Statement of Conformance

Part A of the Standard requires companies to assess whether they are adhering to international sanctions and undertake a risk assessment based upon the recognition of conflict. Applying the Standard’s criteria, operations that are in an area ranked as 5 (war) or 4 (limited war) within the last two years of the Heidelberg Conflict Barometer have been classified as ‘conflict-affected or high-risk’ and must complete all remaining assessments in Parts B–E of the Standard. For operations not considered in a ‘conflict-affected or high-risk’ area and where the company does not transport gold while in the custody of the producer, the remaining assessments are D and E.

Newmont Goldcorp's evaluation

Following Part A – Conflict Assessment, Newmont Goldcorp concluded that we did not breach any international sanctions and we have no mines considered to be in 'conflict-affected or high-risk' areas, as determined by the previous two years of the Heidelberg Conflict Barometer. We therefore did not undertake Parts B and C assessments as set out in the Standard.

We also complied with Part D – Externally Sourced Gold Assessment. In 2018, no Newmont Goldcorp operation sourced gold-bearing materials from third parties in conflict-affected or high risk areas. Newmont Goldcorp implemented the appropriate Management Statement of Conformance documentation to accompany gold being dispatched from operations as required in Part E.

In conclusion, Newmont Goldcorp was in conformance with the criteria set out in the Conflict-Free Gold Standard for the reporting year ended 31 December 2018.
