NEWCREST MINING LIMITED

Cadia Concentrator 1 SAG mill back in operation

Following repairs and a period of operational testing, Concentrator 1 SAG mill at Cadia is now operating at full capacity.

Engineers have determined that the mill motor will eventually require a full rewind. The timing of the rewind will be subject to the availability of long lead time parts and will be incorporated into the maintenance schedule when it is considered convenient or appropriate to do so.

Installation of the conveyor to bypass the mill, transporting ore from the high pressure grinding rolls to the ball mill circuit, remains on schedule to be completed in early December 2015. This will provide future operating flexibility.

Stockpiles which have been generated over the last five weeks are expected to be fully processed by the end of the current financial year.

Cadia's FY16 production, capital and cost guidance remains unchanged.
