Newmont Ranked Mining Industry Leader by Dow Jones Sustainability World Index for Second Year in a Row

9/8/2016

Ranking marks 10th consecutive year Newmont selected for inclusion on index

DENVER--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- For the second year in a row, Newmont Mining Corporation (NYSE: NEM) was ranked by the Dow Jones Sustainability World Index (DJSI World) as the mining industry's overall leader in sustainability. Newmont's inclusion on the index also marked the 10th consecutive year the company has been selected for the DJSI World. This year, the DJSI World – one of the most highly regarded sustainability indices – included 316 global companies identified as leaders in the areas of sustainable economic, environmental and social performance. Newmont was the first gold company named to the index in 2007, and has been included on the DJSI North America Index every year since 2006.

"We're honored that our economic, environmental and social performance was recognized as the best in the mining sector by the Dow Jones Sustainability World Index for the second year running. This performance reflects our team's deep commitment to sustainability and continuous improvement," said Gary Goldberg, President and Chief Executive Officer. "Our focus on creating value and improving lives through sustainable and responsible mining translates into safe working conditions and good jobs for employees; sustainable economic development for our host communities; and strong returns and prospects for our shareholders and other stakeholders."

In addition to being ranked the overall industry leader in the mining sector, Newmont received the highest score (100th percentile) in a number of areas including Occupational Health and Safety, Risk and Crisis Management; Climate Strategy; Environmental Policy and Management Systems; Water-related Risks; Asset Closure Management; and Corporate Citizenship and Philanthropy.

DJSI World tracks the performance of 2,500 leading companies worldwide, independently evaluating their long-term economic, environmental and social performance. The top 10 percent of performers are selected from among each industry group. DJSI evaluates companies based on a variety of criteria, including transparency, corporate governance, risk and crisis management, environmental management and performance, climate strategy, water risks, stakeholder engagement, local community development, labor practices, human rights and safety.

More information on Newmont's safety, economic, environmental and social performance can be found in the company's annual sustainability report, Beyond the Mine. The report is published as part of Newmont's ongoing obligations as a founding member of the International Council on Mining and Metals and in accordance with the company's commitments under the United Nations' Global Compact and the Voluntary Principles on Security and Human Rights.
