10 Millionth Ounce of Gold Poured at Newmont Tanami Operations

Newmont is pleased to announce Newmont Tanami Operations has reached a significant milestone in producing 10 million ounces of gold.

On this momentous occasion Newmont Australia would like to thank the Warlpiri people (Yapa) for their ongoing partnership and contribution to the success of the Newmont Tanami Operations. The Warlpiri people are the Traditional Owners of the land on which the Newmont Tanami Operations are located. Newmont Australia and Yapa have been working together to achieve a stronger voice, education and employment for Yapa in the Tanami region.

The region has been well known for gold since its discovery in 1898, with large scale mining commencing in 1986. In 2002 Newmont Corporation acquired Normandy Mining Limited, changing ownership and name from Normandy North Flinders Mines to Newmont Tanami Operations. Newmont Australia owns and operates the Newmont Tanami Operations which consists of processing operations at The Granites and underground mining operations at Dead Bullock Soak.

Newmont Tanami Operations continue to deliver significant value for Newmont. The operation is the 4th largest gold producer in Australia and one of the most cost competitive operations globally. Newmont's continued exploration success in the region has provided a mine with a 10 year + mine life and annually adds to Newmont's resource and reserve base.

"Newmont's people are critical to our success. The hundreds of employees and contractors on the Newmont Tanami Operations consistently deliver high-quality results safely and efficiently" said Alex Bates, Regional Senior Vice President of Newmont Australia.

"Without hard work and good partnerships, we would not be realising the full potential of this world-class asset. Well done to all involved, past and present, in reaching this historic milestone".
