(collectively referred to as the “Disclosure Rules”).

This Policy also provides guidance regarding the use of social media, which should be broadly understood for purposes of this Policy to include blogs, wikis, microblogs, message boards, chat rooms, electronic newsletters, online forums, social networking sites, and other sites and services that permit users to share information with others in a contemporaneous manner.

4. RESPONSIBILITY FOR THIS POLICY

The Audit Committee of the Corporation (the “Audit Committee”) will be responsible for adopting and periodically reviewing and updating this Policy.

5. INDIVIDUAL(S) WHO ARE AUTHORIZED TO SPEAK ON BEHALF OF THE CORPORATION ENTITIES

Only executive officers of the Corporation are authorized to communicate with analysts, the media and investors on behalf of any Corporation Entity.

An authorized spokesperson may, from time to time, designate other person(s), to speak on behalf of one or more of the Corporation Entities as back-ups or to respond to specific inquiries.

Any person to whom this Policy applies who is approached by the media, an analyst, investor or any other member of the public to comment on the affairs of any Corporation Entity, must refer all inquiries to an authorized spokesperson and must immediately notify an authorized spokesperson that the approach was made.

6. DISCLOSURE OF MATERIAL INFORMATION

“Material Information” consists of both “material facts” and “material changes”. A “material fact” means a fact in respect of one (or more) of the Corporation Entities that significantly affects, or would reasonably be expected to have a significant effect on, the market price or value of the securities of the Corporation. A “material change” means a change in the business, operations or capital of one (or more) of the Corporation Entities that would reasonably be expected to have a significant effect on the market price or value of any of the securities of the Corporation and includes a decision to implement such a change if such a decision is made by the directors of the Corporation, or by senior management who believe that confirmation of the decision by the directors of the Corporation is probable. Under U.S. securities laws, Material Information also includes any matters to which there is a substantial likelihood that a reasonable investor would attach importance in making investment decisions.

Any person to whom this Policy applies who becomes aware of information that has the possibility of being Material Information must immediately disclose that information to the Chief Legal Officer of the Corporation (the “CLO”), or if the CLO is unavailable, any executive officer of the Corporation. Schedule “A” attached hereto lists examples of information that may constitute Material Information.

Material Information is required to be disclosed immediately. The CLO, in consultation with the executive officers of the Corporation and others as appropriate, will determine what is deemed to be Material Information and the appropriate public disclosure. Disclosure must be corrected immediately if the Corporation subsequently learns that earlier disclosure by the Corporation contained a material error at the time it was given.

In certain circumstances, the CLO, in consultation with the executive officers of the Corporation and others as appropriate, may determine that disclosure would be unduly detrimental to the Corporation (for example if release of the information would prejudice negotiations in a transaction), in which case the information will be kept confidential until it is appropriate to publicly disclose. In such circumstances, the Corporation will, if required, file a confidential material change report with the applicable securities regulators, and will periodically (at least every 10 days) review its decision to keep the information confidential.

News releases disclosing Material Information will be transmitted to the applicable stock exchanges, if required, relevant regulatory bodies and major news wire services that disseminate financial news to the financial press and to daily newspapers in Canada that provide regular coverage of financial news.

7. ELECTRONIC COMMUNICATIONS AND WEB SITES

The Corporation has developed and will maintain a web site at the URL <https://flowr.ca/> where all documents provided under timely disclosure requirements, as well as other investor relations information, will be made publicly available.

All information posted on the Corporation's web site must be factual, accurate, up to date and complete, as well as presented in a consistent manner. No Material Information may be posted on the web site that has not first been publicly disclosed in compliance with Disclosure Rules.

News releases will be posted on the Corporation's web site and on the System for Electronic Document Retrieval and Analysis immediately after dissemination through a wire service. The "News" (or analogous) page of the website will include a notice that advises readers that the information posted was accurate at the time of posting, but may be superseded by subsequent news releases.

8. RUMOURS

In general, no Corporation Entity will comment, affirmatively or negatively, on rumours. This also applies to rumours on the Internet. Spokespersons will respond consistently to those rumours, saying "it is our policy not to comment on market rumours or speculation". No exceptions are permitted to this general rule, as inconsistent practices may constitute Tipping which is described in Section 9 and Section 11 of this Policy.

Where a rumour is correct, in whole or in part, or where Material Information has been inadvertently leaked and appears to be affecting trading activity of the Corporation's securities, immediate disclosure of the relevant Material Information must be made by the Corporation through the issuance of a news release. Where appropriate, the Corporation should request trading be halted pending the issuance of a news release.

9. CONFIDENTIALITY OF UNDISCLOSED MATERIAL INFORMATION

"Undisclosed Material Information" of the Corporation is Material Information about the Corporation that has not been "Generally Disclosed": that is, disseminated to the public by way of a news release together with the passage of a reasonable amount of time (24 hours, unless otherwise advised that the period is longer or shorter, depending on the circumstances) for the public to analyze the information.

Any person to whom this Policy applies and who has knowledge of Undisclosed Material Information must treat the Material Information as confidential until the Material Information has been Generally Disclosed.

Undisclosed Material Information should not be disclosed to anyone except in the necessary course of business. If Undisclosed Material Information has been disclosed in the necessary course of business, anyone so informed must clearly understand that it is to be kept confidential, and, in appropriate circumstances, execute a confidentiality agreement. Schedule “B” attached hereto lists circumstances where Canadian securities regulators believe disclosure may be in the necessary course of business. When in doubt, all persons to whom this Policy applies must consult with the CLO, or if the CLO is unavailable, any executive officer of the Corporation, to determine whether disclosure in a particular circumstance is in the necessary course of business. For greater certainty, disclosure to analysts, institutional investors, other market professionals and members of the press and other media will not be considered to be in the necessary course of business.

“Tipping”, which refers to the disclosure of Undisclosed Material Information to third parties outside the necessary course of business, is prohibited.

In order to prevent the misuse of inadvertent disclosure of Undisclosed Material Information, the procedures set forth below should be observed at all times:

- documents and files containing confidential information should be kept in a safe place to which access is restricted to individuals who “need to know” that information in the necessary course of business and code names should be used if necessary;
- confidential matters should not be discussed in places where the discussion may be overheard;
- transmission of documents containing Undisclosed Material Information by electronic means will be made only where it is reasonable to believe that the transmission can be made and received under secure conditions such as a dedicated server; and
- unnecessary copying of documents containing Undisclosed Material Information must be avoided and extra copies of documents must be promptly removed from meeting rooms and work areas at the conclusion of the meeting and must be destroyed if no longer required.

10. QUIET PERIOD

Each period beginning on the last day of each fiscal quarter and each fiscal year, and ending when the earnings for that quarter or year, as applicable, have been Generally Disclosed by way of a news release, will be a “Quiet Period”. During a Quiet Period, spokespersons must not provide any future-oriented information relating to the business and affairs of any Corporation Entity. Spokespersons are also prohibited from providing any future oriented information about the prospective business, operations or capital of any Corporation Entity, including future-oriented financial information or forward-looking statements (as such terms are defined under applicable securities law) (“Forward-Looking Information”) about expected revenues, net income or profit, earnings per share, expenditure levels, and other information commonly referred to as earnings guidance (“Earnings Guidance”) or comments with respect to the financial results for the current fiscal quarter or current fiscal year. Notwithstanding these restrictions, the Corporation may Generally Disclose Forward-Looking Information during the Quiet Period when the Forward-Looking Information constitutes Undisclosed Material Information. During a Quiet Period, spokespersons may respond to unsolicited inquiries about information either that is not Material Information or that has been Generally Disclosed.

11. AVOIDING SELECTIVE DISCLOSURE

When participating in shareholder meetings, news conferences, analysts’ conferences and private meetings with analysts, spokespersons must only disclose information that either is not Material Information or is Material Information but has previously been Generally Disclosed. For greater certainty, acceptable topics of discussion include the Corporation’s business prospects (subject to the provisions of Sections 10 and 12 of this Policy), the business environment, management’s philosophy and long-term strategy. Any selective disclosure of Undisclosed Material Information, including Earnings Guidance, is not permitted.

To protect against selective disclosure, spokespersons who are participating in shareholder meetings, news conferences, analysts’ conferences or private meetings with analysts should, wherever reasonably practicable to do so, script their comments and prepare answers to anticipated questions in advance of the meeting or conference. It is important to ensure that the scripts are carefully reviewed before the meeting or conference, and any Undisclosed Material Information that is contained in the script must be Generally Disclosed before the meeting or conference or deleted from the script if it is premature for the information to be Generally Disclosed.

12. FORWARD-LOOKING INFORMATION

The Corporation may from time to time give Earnings Guidance or any other Forward-Looking Information through voluntary disclosure by way of a news release, provided that the cautionary language described in this Section accompanies the information.

If Forward-Looking Information is Generally Disclosed:

- the information must be clearly stated to be forward-looking;
- the factors and assumptions that were used to arrive at the Forward-Looking Information must be clearly described; and
- the factors that could cause actual results to differ materially must be clearly stated, and should be presented with a reasonably possible range of outcomes, a sensitivity analysis or other qualitative analysis that will assist in assessing the related risks.

It is important to remember that (as confirmed in Court decisions and the decisions and published policies of various regulatory authorities) “boilerplate” generic risk or exclusionary warnings accompanying Forward-Looking Information may not protect the Corporation, whereas complying with the requirements of this Section should.

13. TRADING WINDOWS AND PRE-CLEARANCE PROCEDURES

“Insider Trading” which refers to a person or entity “in a special relationship with the Corporation” (as defined in Section 3 of this Policy) purchasing or selling or otherwise monetizing securities of the Corporation while in possession of Undisclosed Material Information, is prohibited.

Subject to this Section 13, persons or entities “in a special relationship with the Corporation” are not permitted to purchase or sell or otherwise monetize securities of the Corporation except during a “Trading Window”.

“Trading Window” means (i) any period of time during which a Blackout Period is not in effect; (ii) any other period designated by the Chief Executive Officer, CLO or the CFO and communicated to those persons to whom this Policy applies. and (iii) transactions that occur during a Blackout Period, pursuant to a trading plan that complies with applicable U.S. securities legislation, provided such trading plan (a) is in writing, (b) was submitted to the Corporation for review prior to its adoption and was approved by the Audit Committee or any officer authorized by the Audit Committee to approve such plans, and (c) was not adopted during a Blackout Period or at a time when the person was in possession of Undisclosed Material Information. If the Trading Window ends on a weekend or statutory holiday, it will be deemed to have ended on the last business day before the weekend or statutory holiday, “Blackout Period” means: (i) the period commencing fifteen (15) days prior to the release of the Corporation’s quarterly financial results and ending at the opening of trading on the first business day following public release of such results; provided that if a Restricted Person obtains knowledge of material information in connection with the preparation or review of quarterly financial results the “blackout” period for such Restricted Person shall commence at the time he or she obtains such knowledge; (ii) the period commencing thirty (30) days prior to the release of the annual financial results and ending at the opening of trading on the first business day following public release of such results; provided that if a Restricted Person obtains knowledge of material information in connection with the preparation or review of the annual financial results the “blackout” period for such Restricted Person shall commence at the time he or she obtains such knowledge; and (iii) the period commencing after the receipt of a notice from the CLO of an instruction not to trade until further notice is given by such person.

During a Blackout Period, the Corporation shall not grant or issue equity securities, stock options or similar forms of stock-based compensation (such as stock appreciation rights, deferred share units or restricted stock awards), other than in unusual, exceptional circumstances. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained herein, persons “in a special relationship with the Corporation” may purchase or sell securities during a Blackout Period with the prior written consent of the Chief Executive Officer, CLO or the CFO (each, a “Trading Approval Person”); provided, that such persons are not in possession of Undisclosed Material Information. A Trading Approval Person will grant permission to purchase or sell during a Blackout Period or for the Corporation to grant stock options or similar forms of stock-based compensation only in the case of unusual, exceptional circumstances. Unusual, exceptional circumstances may include the sale of securities in the case of severe financial hardship or where the timing of the sale is critical for significant tax planning purposes or the granting of stock options or similar forms of stock-based compensation in connection with the hiring of an optionee or grantee, or where such securities were offered to such persons prior to a Blackout Period, but the granting of such securities had not been approved by the Board prior to the Blackout Period being imposed.

After each shareholder meeting, news conference, analysts’ conference or private meeting with analysts, the Corporation’s participants should normally meet and review the disclosures made during the course of the meeting or conference to determine if any Undisclosed Material Information was unintentionally disclosed.

If Undisclosed Material Information was disclosed, the participants must advise a member of the Audit Committee, who will take immediate steps to ensure that the information is Generally Disclosed.

Pending the Material Information being Generally Disclosed, the Corporation must contact the parties to whom the Material Information was disclosed and inform them (i) that the information is Undisclosed Material Information and (ii) of their legal obligations with respect to the Material Information.

When directors, officers, employees or consultants are caught trading on Undisclosed Material Information it causes great embarrassment to the Corporation. While regulatory authorities concentrate their efforts on the individuals who trade, or who tip inside information to others who trade, applicable securities laws also impose potential liability on companies and other “controlling persons” if they fail to take reasonable steps to prevent insider trading by company personnel. As a result, the Corporation may take its own disciplinary actions, which could result in termination of employment or implementation of a probationary period. The Corporation will also report the matter to the appropriate regulatory authorities.

The prohibition against trading on Undisclosed Material Information as set forth in Canadian and U.S. securities legislation can be enforced through a wide range of penalties, including:

- fines and penal sanctions;
- civil actions for damages;

- criminal penalties and incarceration;
- an accounting to the Corporation for any benefit or advantage received; and
- administrative sanctions by securities commissions, such as cease trade orders and removal of exemptions.

14. ANALYST REPORTS

It is the Corporation's policy to review, upon request, analysts' draft research reports or models. In such cases, comments of directors, officers, employees or contractors of the Corporation Entities should be limited to identifying factual information that has been Generally Disclosed and that may affect an analyst's model, and to pointing out inaccuracies or omissions with reference to information that has been Generally Disclosed. Any comments must contain a disclaimer that the report was reviewed for factual accuracy only. No comfort or guidance should be expressed on the analysts' earnings models or earnings estimates and no attempt shall be made to influence an analyst's opinion or conclusion.

Analysts' reports must not be circulated by directors, officers, employees or contractors of the Corporation Entities except when in the necessary course of business, nor may they be posted on, or linked from the Corporation's website. The Corporation may post on its website a complete list, regardless of the recommendation, of all the investment firms and analysts who provide research coverage on it, provided, such list will not include links to the analysts' or any other third party's websites or publications.

15. INSIDER TRADE REPORTS

Insiders of the Corporation are required to file an initial insider report within ten days of becoming an Insider and subsequent insider reports within five days following any trade of securities of the Corporation. If an Insider of the Corporation does not own or have control or direction over securities of the Corporation, or if ownership or direction or control over securities of the Corporation remains unchanged from the last report filed, a report is not required. In addition, Insiders are required to file, pursuant to applicable insider reporting requirements, insider reports reporting transactions in securities convertible or exchangeable for voting shares of the Corporation.

If an Insider has made a trade and requires assistance with the filing of an insider report, such person should contact the CLO, who will arrange for assistance with the preparation and filing of an insider report.

- It is highly recommended that directors, officers, consultants and employees keep social media accounts related to the Corporation Entities separate from personal accounts, if practical.

17. WHISTLEBLOWING
