Robert Lento Assumes CEO Responsibilities at Limelight

11/26/2012

PHOENIX, Nov. 26, 2012 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Limelight Networks (Nasdaq:LLNW), a leader in Digital Presence Management, today announced the appointment of Robert Lento as interim chief executive officer (CEO), effective immediately. As previously reported, Jeff Lunsford, will continue in his role as Chairman of the company's board of directors and assist with the transition.

"I am impressed with Limelight's solutions, both in content delivery networking, and our rapidly expanding cloud-based SaaS services. I am convinced these offerings uniquely address a large and growing market need as customers increasingly depend on the web for their businesses," stated Lento. "Limelight benefits from an array of core strengths, and I look forward to working with the Limelight team, and our great customers and partners to accelerate plans that will drive Limelight's growth and profitability."

Mr. Lento brings over thirty years of industry knowledge and leadership experience to Limelight Networks. Prior to joining Limelight, Lento spent 14 years at Convergys, serving a decade as the senior sales executive. During the last four years, as president of the company's information management division, he led a turnaround creating a highly profitable and growing business, which NEC acquired in May 2012. Earlier, Lento served as president of LAN systems for Donnelly Enterprise Solutions, where he grew both top line revenue and profitability. Previously he served in executive roles at Entex Information Services, Decision Resources, and Future Information Systems. Mr. Lento holds a BS in Management from the State University of New York.

Additionally, with David Hatfield, executive vice president, global sales and consulting, leaving the company at the end of the year to pursue personal interests, the global sales and consulting organization will report directly to Mr. Lento, pending selection of a successor to Mr. Hatfield.
