Zuken Turns to Limelight's Content Delivery Network to Accelerate and Improve Web Performance

1/16/2017

Global Provider of Innovative Software and Consulting Services Relies on Limelight to Improve Customer Support for Users in 47 Countries

TEMPE, Ariz.--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- Limelight Networks, Inc. (Nasdaq: LLNW), a global leader in digital content delivery, today announced Zuken is using its Content Delivery Network (CDN) and Cloud Storage Services to deliver more stable web access, rapid incident response and fast downloads of software and files.

"Since we introduced Limelight Cloud Storage Services, we've been able to replicate and deliver content so users in the U.S., Europe, and Asia can access content from a server close to their own location," said Hiroshige Kamakura, Section Manager, Global IT at Zuken. "This ensures reliable and fast content access from any location. If a cache miss occurs, the content is delivered from the nearest cloud server in the network."

Limelight's CDN maximizes the stability, speed of web access, and content delivery to Zuken customers in 47 countries. With Limelight Cloud Storage Services, operational and management workload is reduced and software downloads that previously took over an hour are now completed in minutes.

"Zuken recognizes how a flawless and fast experience on its website is essential to providing the best possible customer service," said Takayuki Tadokoro, Country Manager, Limelight Networks Japan. "We enjoy collaborating closely with them to help slash response times and increase efficiency globally."
