Matt has served as the President and Chief Executive Officer for

Enovis Corporation (formerly Colfax), an innovation-driven medical technology company, since 2015. As a highly accomplished leader with over 30 years of experience, he has a distinct focus on accelerating organic growth as well as strategic acquisitions, margin and profitability improvements and talent development.

Prior to his CEO role at Enovis, Matt was the Executive Vice President of DuPont's Safety & Protection and Electronics & Communications segment with $6.3 billion in revenue. At DuPont, he also held the overall responsibility for Advanced Materials corporate strategy and for the Asia region.

"We are pleased to welcome Matt Trerotola to our Board of Directors. Matt's experience in leading a publicly traded medical technology company as well as his proven track record for driving product innovation, profitability, and continuous improvement in operations, makes him a great addition to Aptar's Board," said Stephan B. Tanda, Aptar President and CEO.

Matt Trerotola said, "I am excited to join the Board of Aptar, a company that improves the lives of millions of people around the world through its technologies and services. I look forward to collaborating with Aptar's talented and experienced directors, along with Aptar's executive leadership team, to further Aptar's goal of increasing value for shareholders."

In his previous roles, Matt served as DuPont's Senior Vice President, Safety & Protection and the Vice President and Group Executive for Danaher Corporation's Life Sciences division. Additionally, Matt has an extensive background in emerging markets, change management and digital strategy furthered by his roles at Videojet, Digital Ventures and McKinsey & Company.

George Fotiades, Chairman of Aptar's Board of Directors, stated, "Our Board is comprised of diverse and effective business leaders from industries, backgrounds and regions that are instrumental in driving Aptar's future growth and success. Matt's deep knowledge in healthcare, medical technologies and regulated markets, as well as his oversight of global companies, will benefit Aptar and its stakeholders."

Matt holds an MBA from Harvard Business School and a Bachelor's of Science in Chemical Engineering from the University of Virginia. He also serves on the Board of Directors for Enovis Corporation.
