“We are extremely proud to be recognized by Newsweek and Statista for the second year in a row for our efforts to further a more sustainable, socially responsible, diverse, equitable and inclusive company,” said Stephan B. Tanda, Aptar President and CEO. “This recognition, along with our recent recognition as one of the “Most Responsible Companies in France for 2021” by LePoint, is a reflection of our global commitment to social and environmental responsibility.”

Newsweek, in partnership with Statista – one of the largest statistics database companies worldwide, evaluated America’s Most Responsible Companies based on the 2,000 largest public companies by revenue in the U.S. and publicly available performance data in the environmental, social and corporate governance categories. They also took into account the survey CSR perception results from 7,500 U.S. citizens. Newsweek’s full list of “America’s Most Responsible Companies 2021” can be found here.
