"Being recognized as one of Barron's most sustainable companies for seven consecutive years is a true honor and a reflection of the unwavering commitment of our entire team," said Stephan B. Tanda, Aptar President and CEO. "At Aptar, sustainability is not only a responsibility—it is a cornerstone of our innovation and a competitive advantage that drives our mission to create a better, more sustainable future for all."

Aptar has made considerable progress advancing key areas of its global sustainability strategy. Recent Aptar highlights include:

- Maintaining the Platinum level rating from EcoVadis since 2021, which places the company among the top 1% of the nearly 150,000 companies rated by EcoVadis across all industries
- Sourcing more than 95% of global electricity consumption from renewable sources and certifying more than 60% of sites as Landfill Free through Aptar's internal program
- Setting science-based targets for Scope 1 and Scope 2 emissions reductions that are in line with requirements to keep global warming at 1.5° Celsius by 2030. In addition, setting a renewable electricity target, as well as a Scope 3 target. Each of these targets has been verified by the Science Based Targets initiative (SBTi).
- Being named to the prestigious CDP "A List" for leadership on climate change topics by the global environmental non-profit, CDP, through the 2024 corporate questionnaire

- Focusing on the eco-design of products, which is aligned to that of Aptar’s partners at the Ellen MacArthur Foundation, the World Business Council for Sustainable Development and many other organizations who are working towards a more circular economy

Barron’s partnered with Calvert Research and Management to build the list of the most sustainable companies and scored the 1,000 largest publicly traded companies across 230 performance indicators.
