AirLife Completes Acquisition of Avanos Medical's Respiratory Health Business

10/2/2023

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich.--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- AirLife, a leading North American manufacturer and distributor of consumable medical devices for anesthesia and respiratory care formerly known as SunMed, today announced the completion of its acquisition of Avanos Medical, Inc.'s (NYSE: AVNS) ("Avanos") respiratory health business, including the BALLARD*, MICROCUFF* and endOclear® product lines.

The acquisition adds three complementary brands, the R&D expertise behind them and two manufacturing facilities into AirLife's growing platform. The transaction advances AirLife's strategy to enhance its leading portfolio of the most trusted products in anesthesia and respiratory care and serve even more customers as a one-stop source for the highest-quality consumable breathing solutions that support the best patient outcomes.

"We're thrilled to complete this exciting milestone in AirLife's evolution as we strengthen our leadership as a premier, completely dedicated consumable breathing products company," said Hank Struik, AirLife CEO. "We are especially pleased to welcome the exceptional team that has driven the success of these market leading brands to our company. As some of the most trusted closed suction and endotracheal consumables used to treat patients in critical care, this addition to AirLife unlocks new opportunities to accelerate our growth, serve more healthcare practitioners and drive innovation across our comprehensive portfolio of leading brands."

Goodwin Procter LLP is acting as legal counsel to AirLife.
