OTTAWA, ON, Sept. 11, 2024 /CNW/ - From October 18-20, 2024, the Cosmic Northside - Afrofuturistic Canadian Art Conference (ACAC) will take place in Ottawa, celebrating Afrofuturism's rich legacy in Canada. This bilingual event will feature live music, exhibitions, and interactive activities exploring the intersections of artificial intelligence (AI), Sci-Fi fantasy, and Pan-Africanism. Attendees will engage with innovative S.T.E.A.M. The event is organized by ASTROSANKOFA Arts Initiatives (ASAI) in partnership with the National Gallery of Canada, planned by Hors Pair Social, and supported by the Black Speculative Arts Movement and the Ottawa Black Arts Kollectiv. Funded by the Government of Canada's Department of Culture and Heritage and the Canada Council for the Arts, ACAC will showcase discussions, workshops, digital art displays, performances, and an interactive robot, emphasizing creative expression and intersectionality.

Quentin VerCetty, Director of ASAI, describes the conference as "a new moon for the Canadian art scene," celebrating Black representation, innovation, and the growth of Afrofuturism in Canada's art legacy.
