

Grant Thornton names MBC Travelers as its new Purple Paladin

Nonprofit empowers survivors of metastatic breast cancer by creating memorable travel experiences and connections

CHICAGO--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- Grant Thornton LLP, one of America's largest audit, tax and advisory firms has named MBC Travelers to its Purple Paladin program, which helps emerging nonprofit organizations move from "start-up to unstoppable." As part of the program, Grant Thornton provides funding, business advice and volunteer support, while also helping nonprofits raise awareness of their work and mission.

MBC Travelers was founded in 2021 by Jennifer Pace, who has been living with metastatic breast cancer (MBC) for over a decade. This nonprofit organization is on a mission to empower MBC survivors – or "thrivers", as they like to call themselves – by creating memorable experiences and creating connections with other women living with MBC.

"This Breast Cancer Awareness Month, we're proud to support MBC Travelers in their mission to create personal, memorable experiences through a community that supports each other for life," said Seth Siegel, CEO of Grant Thornton. "The MBC Travelers community speaks to a fervent need for connection – something we all long for, whether that's in business or in life."

Pace learned she had MBC just eight months after her initial diagnosis of stage 3B breast cancer in 2012. While the survival rate can vary from months to years, MBC is a terminal diagnosis. About one in eight women are diagnosed with breast cancer in their lifetime, and for nearly 30% of them, the disease will progress to MBC.

After her diagnosis, Pace looked for other women living with MBC to form connections and friendships outside a hospital setting. When she suggested a group trip, more than 800 women expressed interest.

“I realized this would be more than a girls’ trip,” Pace said. “We were fulfilling a gap for women living with MBC. We need research and advocacy, but we also need opportunities to connect with each other in ways we can’t with others.”

MBC Travelers builds community through an annual five-day “bucket list” trip for 50 women. The foundation also organizes pop-up events, weekend getaways and experiences for smaller groups around the country and throughout the year, at little to no cost for the women attending. Pace plans every aspect of each trip and event, keeping in mind what MBC thrivers — who vary in their capabilities due to the progression of their disease — will find the trips fun, valuable and memorable.

More than 250 women have attended MBC Travelers trips and events since the nonprofit’s inception. Members of the community — now more than 400 strong — keep up with each other in GroupMe chats, calls and visits for life’s big and small moments.

“We go to each other’s weddings and birthdays. We fly across the country to support each other at doctor’s appointment or after a surgery,” Pace said. “We’re there for each other through the good and the bad, from the beginning to the end.”
