Scalable Cloud-Based Solution Accelerates Enterprise Innovation

RICHMOND, Va.--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- Apex Systems and GlideFast Consulting, two leading global technology services firms and ASGN (NYSE: ASGN) brands, today announced a new AI-powered offering, Run ServiceNow on AWS. This comprehensive setup and deployment solution is designed to unlock the full potential of ServiceNow in the cloud for enterprises.

“Run ServiceNow on AWS is a game-changer for enterprises looking to modernize their ServiceNow environments,” said Jarred Pippy, Chief Operating Officer of GlideFast Consulting. “As an Elite ServiceNow provider, we are combining our deep expertise on ServiceNow, with Apex Systems’ leading cloud infrastructure capabilities, to provide our clients with a secure, scalable, and innovation-ready foundation that’s built for the future.”

Run ServiceNow on AWS enables organizations to deploy ServiceNow in their own Amazon Web Services (AWS) environments with speed and scalability. Clients benefit from rapid deployment, elastic scaling to match demand, and infrastructure cost reductions of up to 50 percent, without any hardware orders or wait times.

Alongside expert-led software deployment and integration, security and compliance are paramount to this new offering. Run ServiceNow on AWS is built on the AWS multi-zone failover infrastructure and designed to meet rigorous compliance standards, including SOC 2, HIPAA, and FedRAMP, the same defenses trusted by global banks and healthcare companies.

Heather MacKinnon-Miller, Global Head of AI at Apex Systems, remarked, “This launch demonstrates our dedication to helping organizations operate faster, smarter, and more securely than ever before. By continuing to collaborate with technology leaders like AWS and ServiceNow, we empower our clients with advanced AI solutions that drive automation, intelligence, and global expansion.”
