

ECS Secures Seventh Microsoft Gold Competency for Data Analytics and Big Data

Company recognized as trusted provider of Microsoft solutions in Business Intelligence, Advanced Analytics, Data Science, and Big Data

FAIRFAX, Va.--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- ECS, a leader in advanced technology, science, and engineering solutions, has achieved its seventh Microsoft Gold-Certified competency for data analytics in the areas of Business Intelligence, Advanced Analytics, Data Science, and Big Data. This certification, awarded upon rigorous review of technical certifications and innovative solutions, represents Microsoft's highest level of partner recognition for aligning technical expertise to customer needs. The competency demonstrates ECS' expertise in delivering data analytics and advanced solutions powered by Microsoft products. ECS holds Microsoft gold competencies in six other areas: cloud platform, cloud productivity, application development, datacenter, collaboration and content, and messaging. The company also has two Microsoft silver competencies in security, and Windows and devices.

"ECS is proud to continue our Gold-Certified Premier partnership and 20-year history with Microsoft delivering advanced technology solutions," said John Sankovich, ECS vice president of cloud solutions. "Our customers' data volumes are continuing to increase rapidly and ECS' data analytics capabilities help them leverage this data to make better-informed decisions and drive higher-value mission outcomes."

ECS has also been recognized as a Microsoft Partner of the Year and a Tier 1 direct partner in Microsoft's Cloud Solution Provider (CSP) program. ECS provides cloud and application design, migration, deployment, and management support for Microsoft products through the ECS Cloud Center of Excellence.
