2025-10-21

CHICAGO--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- TopBloc, a leading Workday Services Partner and ASGN brand (NYSE: ASGN), was named a Leader in the US Workday Ecosystem by Information Services Group's (ISG) Provider Lens™, a trusted source for enterprise decision makers when selecting IT services partners of choice.

As a leading global technology research and advisory firm, ISG uses empirical, data-driven research and real-world market analysis to expertly evaluate sourcing partners. In this year's Workday Provider Lens™, ISG ranked TopBloc in all four quadrants: Innovation on Workday; Performance and Optimization Services; Transformation Services; and Deployment and Integration Services 2025.

"We are extremely proud to be recognized as a leader in not just one, but four quadrants, in ISG's Provider Lens™ for Workday," said TopBloc's Chief Executive Officer, Christopher Skinner. "This achievement highlights our entire team's commitment to delivering forward-thinking, impactful solutions that enable our clients to reach time to value faster and more efficiently than ever. We look forward to continuing to transform the customer journey and optimizing outcomes with Workday."

"TopBloc is a true Workday specialist that enables its clients to benefit from its dedicated focus on the platform," stated Ashwin Gaidhani, an ISG research partner and lead author for the Workday Ecosystem 2025 study. "With a deep understanding of the nuances and advanced capabilities of Workday, a strong market presence, and established competitive position, TopBloc truly stands out amongst the leaders in our 2025 Workday Provider Lens™."

TopBloc's recognition by ISG comes on the heels of the company's previous achievement, being named the 2025 Workday Business Impact Partner of the Year. In March, TopBloc received this honor for its transformative customer outcomes and record-breaking numbers of Workday implementations.
