HERNDON, Va. – (BUSINESS WIRE) – July 30, 2020 – Beacon (Nasdaq: BECN), North America’s largest publicly traded distributor of residential and commercial roofing materials and complementary building products, announced today that it has been recognized for a second year as a National Preferred Partner by David Weekley Homes, one of the United States’ largest privately-held home builders.

Each year, the National Preferred Partner Survey recognizes field and manufacturing partners that have consistently operated at world-class levels, as determined by the home builder’s supplier evaluation platform. This comprehensive process evaluates companies in the areas of quality and customer service.

“By partnering with Beacon, David Weekley Homes knows our reliability will help them save time, be more efficient and enhance their business,” said Eric Swank, Chief Operating Officer at Beacon. “This honor speaks to our seamless execution, hands-on partnership and practical innovations such as our proprietary PRO+ digital suite of tools.”

The 2020 National Preferred Trading Partner Survey was comprised of two questions with a 1-to-5 rating system for partners and was sent to David Weekley Homes team members that are currently doing business with them in their market. A total of 142 companies were evaluated this year and 16% percent achieved the designation of National Preferred Partner.

“Beacon Building Products understands the challenges of our industry and is able to find solutions that continue to offer world-class performance, which is an essential part of being a National Preferred Partner,” said John Schiegg, vice president of supply chain services for David Weekley Homes.
